MAKING ROOM FOR TAMMANY MEN.

Surveyor Beattie has cast his eye to the windward to obtain more sea-room for Tammany Hall, having recently abandoned the wreck of the County Democracy and taken shelter under the stronger floating battery of Tammany. He has begun to weed out the weavers' laborers in Brooklyn, to make room for Tammany men who want to get into winter quarters. About eight months ago the Treasury Department approved a plan to change the system of paying laborers by the hour, and to organize a limited force of 250 at $2.50 a day. Then through the influence of the McLaughlin-Purey-Frost combination of Brooklyn, it was arranged that the Brooklyn division should be 150 and the New-York division 100. Then the work fell off a little before election, and that more should be discharged each man received a day "off" each week, or one-sixth of the 100 men were laid off each day. On Friday the Surveyor discontinued the arrangement and discharged 100. He will continue making discharges until about fifty are disposed of, and will add as many more to the New-York division, thus finding places for Tammany men.
